NOTES:
* During August 1917 3 Fokker Dr-Is were tested by Werner Voss and Richtofen's JG #1. Following the tests more were slowly introduced until 2 pilots were killed by structural failure. In October 1917 they were taken out of service and were not re-admitted until December 1917 after the design problems were corrected.
 During August 1918 6 E-V (later re-named the D-VIII) aircraft were tested. 3 of them were destroyed when their wings collapsed. They were immediately withdrawn until October.
 Before April 1918, Americans fly in the french Escadrille Lafayette (in Nieuport 17s and Spad VIIs). During March 1918, Americans cannot fly - they are transferring to the U.S. army Air Service.
